The Felix the Cat of DJ's

When disc jockey Jeff Oliver shows up to entertain at your wedding reception you can be rest assured a snagged stocking or the garter your husband's best man forgot to bring won't spoil the most perfect day or your life! you can count on Jeff to bring just about every emergency fix-all you can think of from air freshener to breath mints from duct tape to sewing kit - - and of course, an infinite selection of music in the form of CDs.

Oliver's magic bag of tricks was developed over the years from the time he was a banquet supervisor at the Concord Hilton in the early 80's. Now he is one of a handful of full-time DJ's operating the Bay Area. His Antioch-based Business, A UNIVERSAL ENTERTAINMENT, has been going full steam for seven years now.

Many couples, bent on saving money, don't understand the difference between hiring an experienced DJ and asking a friend who has a super sound set-up. The result often is an amateurish event fraught with equipment problems or at worst failure.

Oliver cautions clients that this is a once in a lifetime event and asks them if they can take a chance at a less-than-professional quality or experience.

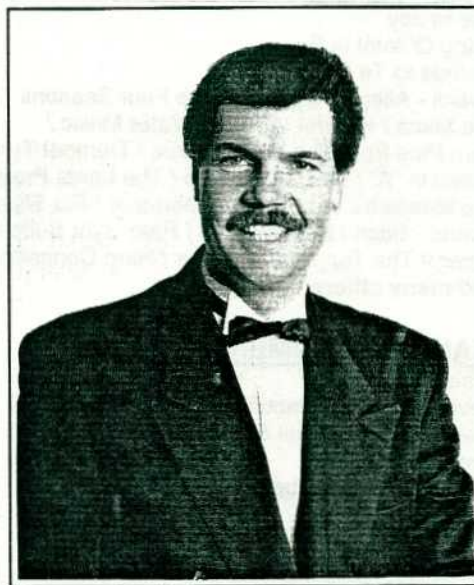

Whatever type of music you and your guests prefer, Oliver can play the most eclectic music from top 40 to Cajun. He'll even provide props for air-band enthusiasts and a computerized light show.

Oliver enjoys getting involved at his parties. If wedding guests feel too shy or reticent to get up and dance he's willing to teach them the steps from line dancing to limbo, to the Achey Breaky, the Tango, and 40 other dances included in his repertoire.

In addition to his magic bag of tricks, he has helped his clients design flyers, supplied inexpensive party decorations and even printed a list of event locations with details on everything from parking to kitchen capacities to assist his clients with site selection.
